Q1	Can you please clarify the fire stop under the range hood? What product have you used for this in the past?
	Please see the following page for information about "Auto Out."
Q2	Also, due to limited counter space, would a microwave with vent instead of a range hood be an option you would want to explore?
	At this time, KCDC is not interested in a microwave.

Auto-Out Venth Hood

How Does it work?

- Using a commercial strength magnet, Auto-Out Venth Hood securely anchors inside your vent hood.
- In the event of a cooking fire, when flames actuate the triggering device on the Auto-Out, the "petals" open and the fire-suppressant powder is discharged.
- The powder smothers the fire on the front and/or back burner.
