The response to the statement below is: YES

For clarification of "single pane of glass management software", the single platform solution must provide a management solution that will eliminate the following:

- o Adding and supporting device-centric applications such as 'scan to Google Drive, scan to Word, Scan to Excel' on the individual devices
- o Setting up and managing address books on individual devices
- o Loading different drivers for each model to specific users
- o Capturing Usage Reporting from specific devices
- o Setting up usage limitations for users or user groups at specific devices
- o Setting up new users at specific devices
- o Monitoring device function at a machine level
