Non-friable materials can become friable if excessive pressure is used to crumble, pulverize, or reduce to powder during renovation and demolition operations. Materials may also become friable due to excessive weathering and aging. Removal of materials that are friable or are likely to become friable is subject to State and Federal asbestos abatement regulations.

Using destructive methods to remove asbestos-containing flooring materials may cause it to become friable and therefore regulated. For example, asbestos-containing floor tiles that are manually or mechanically chipped from the floor are subject to the regulatory requirements for regulated asbestos-containing materials.

District has contracted with a vendor for collection and testing of asbestos who will be monitoring the site.

The contractor will provide their estimate of removal of all asbestos in a non-friable condition. If at any time the removal of asbestos becomes a friable condition, HCS will be notified immediately, and a plan for concealment and containment will be initiated.
