PURPOSE/GOAL

Through this project, the County intends to construct a multipurpose livestock pavilion located at 1900 E. Brady Street, Clovis, NM. The purpose of the project is to create a multi-functional enclosed facility to replace the existing Livestock Barns at the Curry County Fairgrounds that can be used to house portable livestock exhibits during the Annual County Fair, together with covered horse stalls, farmers markets, craft and equipment shows and sales.

The County would like to contract with an offeror that offers experience and a solid background in livestock facilities, as well as experience and expertise in evaluating user needs, providing programming, master planning, construction documentation (to include plans and specifications), bidding and negotiations, and construction administration and post-construction consultation for projects similar to County's.

The selected firm must demonstrate an understanding of and commitment to design excellence and should incorporate a cost-effective design approach fully considering life cycle analysis in selection of materials and systems and a balance of innovative design. A preliminary design is attached to this RFP which has been approved by the County, but Offeror is not limited by the preliminary design as it is strictly for reference. The design for this project shall include, but is not limited to demolition; earthwork; site concrete/asphalt; foundation; structure; framing; painting; interior/exterior wall finishes; roofing; electrical; plumbing; HVAC; and those items associated with a new building. All work and materials must comply with current ADA standards for accessible design and comply with federal, state and local building codes.

SCOPE OF WORK

County desires to enter into a contractual relationship with an Offeror for professional architectural services that has an emphasis on equestrian and other livestock facilities. The County is seeking to design and construct a multi-purpose facility able to accommodate approximately two hundred and fifty (250) temporary ten (10) foot by ten (10) foot horse stalls, with sufficient wash stalls, and a livestock show office. The building shall be designed consistent with best practices (large blade fans, LED lighting, drop electrical, water and drainage, etc.).

Initial Assessment

1. The selected firm shall work with County to determine whether or not the preliminary design provided by County is feasible with the available funds.
2. The selected firm shall discuss with the County alternative approaches for the design and construction, including the feasibility of incorporating environmentally responsible design approaches. The selected firm shall reach an understanding with County regarding the requirements of the project.
3. Based on the project requirements agreed upon with the County, the selected firm shall prepare and present for County's approval a preliminary plan illustrating the scale and relationship of the project components.
4. The selected firm shall be required to provide a preliminary cost estimate to the County for the preliminary design. The selected firm shall not proceed with the schematic design until County provides written authorization to proceed.
5. Due to the short timeline in which the construction of project will need to go out to bid and due to recent delays in building materials, the selected firm may be requested to assist the County in designing and working with a vendor for a pre-engineered metal building package that the County would purchase directly prior to finalized construction documents. The intent of this would be to secure the metal building materials early on in the project and reduce the lead time of materials arriving for construction.

Schematic Design Phase Services

1. Upon County's approval of the initial assessment and preliminary design, the selected firm shall prepare a set of initial Schematic Design Documents for County's approval. The Schematic Design Documents shall consist of drawings, preliminary building plans, sections and elevations; and shall include additional graphic information such as models or perspective sketches.
2. The selected firm shall make recommendations to County concerning the selection of materials, colors, finishes, designs, or devices for use in the project.

3. The selected firm shall prepare and submit for County's approval a schedule for the performance of the project. The schedule shall include anticipated dates for the commencement of construction and for substantial completion of the work. Once approved by the County, time limits established for the design services by the schedule shall not, except for reasonable cause, be exceeded by the selected firm or County. With the County's approval, the selected firm shall adjust the schedule, if necessary, as the project proceeds, until the commencement of construction.
4. The selected firm shall consider environmentally responsible design alternatives, such as material choices, the value of alternative materials, building systems and equipment, together with other considerations based on program and aesthetics, in developing a design that is consistent with the intended use of the building, schedule and budget for the cost of work.
5. The selected firm will work with the County to establish a cost estimate that best meets the needs of the County. The selected firm shall prepare and submit to the County a written cost estimate at the end of the Schematic Design Phase.
6. Upon completion of the Schematic Design Phase and upon receipt of written approval from County, the selected firm shall proceed to the Design Development Phase.

Design Development Phase

1. Upon notice of acceptance and approval of the cost estimate and Schematic Design Documents, the selected firm shall proceed with preparation of the Design Development Documents, consisting of Architectural engineering plans, sections, elevations, typical construction details, building sections showing dimensional relationships, materials, and component relationships and diagrammatic layouts of building systems to fix and describe the size and character of the project as to architectural, structural, mechanical and electrical systems, and such other elements as may be appropriate for the project. The selected firm's Design Development Documents shall also include outline specifications that identify major materials and systems and establish in general, their quality levels. The selected firm shall make recommendations to County concerning the selection of materials, colors, finishes, designs, or devices for use in the project.

2. The selected firm shall use Building Information Model (BIM) authoring software, CAD or other 3D object-oriented software. Building information models must include physical characteristics, geometry, and data required to convey design and construction work. The A/E shall model the building and systems to a level of development as detailed and described below. The intent is to provide a means for clash detection and conflict resolution, identification of clearance requirements and access zones, and coordination among disciplines. All floor plans, sections, and elevations must be extracted directly from the model. Objects supplied by manufacturers shall be used. If these are not available, objects can be created that closely correspond to the actual dimensions.

The level of development (LOD) of the model shall comply with those requirements identified in the American Institute of Architects (AIA) Document E202™ - 2008, which shall be incorporated into the accompanying agreement. If this is not provided, then AIA's LOD 300 shall be used to provide a baseline, which includes modeling of elements with accurate quantity, dimensions, orientation, and location equivalent to traditional construction documents and shop drawings. The A/E shall incorporate additional requirements according to the project's specific needs.

Furthermore, the state agency or local public body may cancel a solicitation or proposed award for a proposed contract pursuant to Section 13-1-181 NMSA 1978 or a contract that is executed may be ratified or terminated pursuant to Section 13-1-182 NMSA 1978 of the Procurement Code if: 1) a prospective contractor, a family member of the prospective contractor, or a representative of the prospective contractor gives a campaign contribution or other thing of value to an applicable public official or the applicable public official's employees during the pendency of the procurement process or 2) a prospective contractor fails to submit a fully completed disclosure statement pursuant to the law.
