The following questions have been received:

Question 1. Loblolly Bay Trees that are listed on the plant list. I am unable to find these in Florida. Is there a nursery name where to find them or a suggested alternative?

Answer 1. While nurseries currently may currently be out of stock the Contractor should have adequate time to arrange for this particular plant to be provided when required during construction and therefore this plant should be used for bidding. If there is a statewide shortage/unavailability of the plant at the time of order for the successful bidder the County may consider replacement of the plant with a similarly sized native tree (e.g. Holly).
