Good morning!

So I found a beekeeper that came and removed the honeybee nest. My guys got in there this morning and were able to assess the damage. The pump control box, the electrical relay, and the pump start Box will all have to be replaced and they will have to build a new frame to mount them on. I asked them to go ahead and order any parts. We don't have in stock so we could get the ball rolling as quickly as possible. I need to get a $2500 not to exceed to cover this project. I think it will end up closer to $2000 but I'm not positive so I have a little bit of extra on there just in case.
